PESTILENCE FOLLOWS GREAT FLOOD

CALL SENT OUT FOR VACCINE FOR FIVE THOUSAND PERSONS

Government Relief Launch With Eighteen Refugees Aboard Darts Thru Crack In Dike On Mississippi—Caught In Eddy and All Perish—Railroad Bridge Washed Away—Cold Wave Adds To Horror of Victims.

Eighteen people were reported drowned when the government launch Pelican was pulled thru a levee break at Knowltons Landing, 50 miles south of Helena, Arkansas, on the Mississippi river early Thursday morning, according to messages received.

The boat was said to have been caught in the swirl of water outside the break as it was attempting to deliver refugees from the bank to the steamer Wabash, which was passing up the river.

The Knowlton levee is in the same locality and opposite the crevasse at Stops Landing early Thursday.

No communication could be established with that district, which is isolated from a telephone for 25 miles or more.

Local Red Cross officials dispatched a boat at 6 o'clock Thursday night for Knowlton, hoping to save others reported to be marooned on the levee top there and in immediate peril. The levee was caving it was said, and people were crying for aid when the Wabash passed up, with hundreds crowded onto a barge and on its decks. They were unable to take on additional refugees, according to the reports received.

Major H. K. Monroe, government engineer, was satisfied that the reports of the Pelican's sinking were true. The government steamer Chiesia, arrived shortly before 6 o'clock, was sent back into the Knowlton district while the Red Cross obtained the services of two gas boats.

Local river authorities could not say when the Wabash will arrive due to the uncertain conditions of the river below Helena.

The Mississippi flood had extended into the lower valley Thursday night as a cold wave came in from the west to add to the discomfort of the 150,000 homeless and placed added handicaps in the way of the men along the levees.

The main levee on the Mississippi broke at Stops Landing, 18 miles above Greenville early Thursday and let thru waters upon an area of 50 miles wide and 75 miles long in eight Mississippi counties.

Greenville faced inundation, as did a score of more smaller communities before the flood waters again reached the main stream near Vicksburg.

Backwaters from the Ouichita river were approaching Monroe, Louisiana, and vicinity.

Arkansas, with its thousands of refugees, many of them ill, huddled in improved camps little prepared for warmth, was in the path of the cold wave. Cold weather overspread other parts of the valley, while winds created waves on the river, adding to the seriousness of the situation.

What's in a Name? Ink,

Says Bueltzingsloewen
Laporte, Ind.—Local mathematicians are figuring out how much ink will be saved each year if the petition of Emil Bueltzingsloewen to have his surname changed to Buell is approved by Judge John C. Richter in Circuit court. As treasurer of a local factory Bueltzingsloewen has to sign his name several hundred times a day.

Without an occasional row home would be as uninteresting and deadly as a club.

along the banks of the Mississippi. At Hickman, Kentucky, the Reelfoot levee, protecting nearly 200 square miles of lowlands, was in danger because of said boils and waves lashing over the top of the dykes. Other points where government engineers were concentrating their efforts were at Knowlton, Arkansas, between Helena and Loconia Circle, and at Albermarle Bend, 30 miles north of Vicksburg.

The crevasse at Stops Landing had been forseen for 48 hours and forewarned, the residents of that section had made preparations to meet the overflow or to reach safety and it was believed all had escaped.

Disease was reported spreading at Van Buren, Wynne, Parkin and Forrest City, Arkansas. Measles, whooping cough and mumps were increasing in some of the camps and a call for typhoid and smallpox vaccine for 500 refugees came from Forrest City. The vaccine was ordered from St. Louis.

The flood situation became more acute along the lower reaches of the Arkansas river from Little Rock to Pine Bluff and southeast to the confluence of the White and Mississippi rivers. The Red Cross chapter at Little Rock reported that "hundreds of families" were in danger of drowning unless rescued within a few hours.

Seeks Prehistoric Man in Danube Salt Mines

Vienna, Austria.—Dr. William Frederic Bada of Berkeley, Calif., is trying to wrest from the ancient salt mines of Hallstadt the story of the lively commerce which he believes was once carried on between early inhabitants of the Danube basin and peoples of Asia Minor. His research is being conducted at the request of the prehistoric section of the Vienna Natural History museum. He is assisted by Prof. Adolph Mahr of Vienna. Later, Doctor Mahr will accompany Doctor Bada to Palestine for archeological research.

HAPPENINGS IN OUR STATE

Taken Direct From Wires By Correspondents of the United States Press Association.

Delaware—Twenty-five Ohio high schools are participating here today and tomorrow in the third annual state high school extempore speaking contest under auspices of Ohio Wesleyan university. Preliminary events are being held today and the final contests will follow tomorrow.

Columbus—The authorized mail line between Cleveland and Louisville via, Columbus will start operation in October. O. J. Miller, flying representative of the U. S. department of commerce, announced during his visit at Norton field.

Zanesville—No trace has yet been found of Charles S. Hoskinson 65, Zanesville business man and prominent Mason, who disappeared from his home April 11. Friends believed he would be found in Columbus but attempts to locate him have failed so far.

Cincinnati—Arrangements for removal of 16 liquor violators to the Troy, Ohio Jail Monday, were made by Stanley Borthwick, U. S. marshal today. The men entered pleas of guilty and were sentenced by Benson W. Hough, U. S. district judge.

Middletown—The skeleton of a boy found in a field along the river bottoms near Trenton, Ohio, by women picking dandelions probably is that of Roy Ramseyer, 13, who drowned near that place during the 1913 flood, authorities said. A pocket knife and pin found near the bones were similar to those owned by the boy.

French Cafe Offers Drinkers Good Advice

Paris.—The gentleman drinker has his code even in this land of light wines and beers, where, so some writers say, hard liquor is shunned and true temperance reigns. "Come here freely," says a sign on a little cafe in the suburbs of Paris. "Drink moderately, pay honorably, leave amicably, and go home quietly." It further enjoins its clients to recall that: "Four glasses make a quart, two quarts a round, two rounds a discussion, and a discussion one quarrel. "One quarrel makes a battle, one battle calls for two policemen. A justice of the peace, a court clerk and a bailiff equal a fine or a few days in jail, plus coats. "Keep this in mind," the placard concludes.

INEZ PALMER ADMITS MURDER IS GIVEN LIFE

Pleads Guilty to Slaying of William Stout, Father of Man She Loved.

A sordid tragedy of unlawful love and of murder was brought to a close in Vinton county court at McArthur Thursday when Inez Palmer pleaded guilty to a first degree murder indictment and was sentenced to life imprisonment in the women's reformatory at Marysville.

Mrs. Palmer, an attractive woman of 24, was indicted for the slaying of William Stout, well-to-do farmer and father of Arthur Stout, with whom Mrs. Palmer lived "without benefit of clergy" for nearly a year in a little shack in the hills.

Arthur Stout, 33, now is serving a life term in Ohio penitentiary for implication in the murder of his stepmother, Sarah Stout, second wife of William.

Judge Darby prefaced his sentence with a statement that mercy should be extended the woman that she might escape the electric chair. She will have, however, no hope of pardon or parole.

Arthur Stout was convicted on a second degree indictment and altho his term also is life, he has hope of parole or pardon.

YOUTH KILLED WHEN ROADSTER TURNS TURTLE

Howard Riley, 22, son of R. L. Riley, merchant, Chillicothe, was killed Thursday night when his roadster overturned on the Columbus pike.

With Glen Gray and Russell Schaefer, Chillicothe, Riley was returning from a fishing trip. They said the car skidded in passing another automobile and overturned when the driver tried to right it. Gray and Schaefer escaped with slight bruises.

Secret of Towers Is Revealed by Britain

London.—Nine years after the armistice the British admiralty has just now revealed for the first time the secret of the famous floating "mystery towers," two of which were built during the war for use off the Straits of Dover.

These towers, 80 feet high and costing $6,000,000 each, it is now stated, were intended to be the forerunners of a whole series of towers which were to be towed out to sea and strung in a line across the Dover straits. Each tower was to be heavily fortified, with powerful searchlights mounted on top. They were to be linked together at distances of a few hundred yards and between the towers was to be strung a curtain of massive steel netting reaching from a few inches below the level of the surface of the water to the bottom of the channel.

In this way the admiralty expected to put an effective end to the submarine menace in the channel. The end of the war came, however, before the towers could be put into use. One was sold and broken up for salvage. The other is now anchored off Spithead, where it has replaced the famous Nab light ship, off the eastern end of the Isle of Wight.

MOSE MILLER IS IN BAD AT CHILLICOTHE

Claims He Run Down and Killed George Pryor at Roxabel, Sunday Night.

John Baker, colored of Frankfort, questioned by Sheriff Immell, Thursday morning as to his knowledge of the circumstances under which George Pryor, of Roxabel, was killed by a hit-skip motorist, Sunday night and in connection with which Mose Miller, of Circleville, is being held, made the following statement in the sheriff's office:

"Yes, I was riding in Miller's car that night when he hit Pryor and knocked him down and hurried on without stopping to see how badly he had hurt Pryor. I had asked Miller to let me ride in his car, as Miller was going towards Frankfort.

"Miller was drunk. We saw Pryor plainly ahead of the car, staggering along on the road, also going towards Frankfort. Miller made no effort to avoid striking Pryor. The right side of his car hit Pryor, and the right headlight was knocked out. Pryor fell over to the right side of the road.

"Before hitting Pryor, I told Miller to look out, or he would hit him. But he paid no attention to what I said, saying something about 'that being all right,' and went right on. When we got to Frankfort, he let me out, telling me to say nothing about hitting anybody and adding that he was going right on. He was traveling pretty lively when the car hit Pryor.—Scioto Gazette.

Mr. Miller was accompanied by his wife and Mrs. Jennie Ragland and husband on the ill fated trip so it is claimed.

WOMAN'S TALK SPILLS BEANS IN FORD TRIAL

Federal Judge Raymond Discharges Jury in Famous Million Dollar Suit.

An order of mistrial granted upon motion of defense counsel Thursday at Detroit, Michigan ended Aaron Sapiro's $1,000,000 libel suit against Henry Ford.

Judge Fred M. Raymond ordered the jury discharged and instructed a mistrial be entered upon the plea of Stewart Hanley heading the Ford defense in the absence of Senator James A. Reed of Missouri. That Mrs. Cora Hoffman eleven juror chosen, when the trial started six weeks ago had granted an interview, the substance of which appeared in last Tuesday's Detroit Times.

Judge Raymond expressly cleared Mrs. Hoffman of allegations made in a series of affidavits by Ford detectives and other employees that he had discussed a $20,000 bribe with "Kid" Miller, and that she had wrongly stated she was a qualified juror and asserted disbelief that Sapiro had indulged in any misconduct as asserted in the affidavit.

AGE-OLD GARMENT IS FOUND IN PEAT BED

Pollen on Woolen Garment Reveals Its Antiquity.

Stockholm, Sweden.—A woolen mantle, worn in Sweden when the early pharaohs still reigned in Egypt, has had its age approximately determined by a curious combination of botanical and geological knowledge, through the researches of Dr. Lennart von Post of the Museum of National Antiquities here. The garment was found buried at a depth of several feet in a peat bed in the district of Vastergotland, carefully folded up and weighted down with three stones, but with nothing about it to indicate how it got there.

Its similarity to Bronze age garments from Denmark and elsewhere suggested its antiquity. The fact that it had evidently not been buried, but had lain in its hiding place while the moss grew over it to form about five feet of peat, was further evidence of great age. The acid water of the bog had preserved it from decay during the centuries.

Pollen Grains Key to Age. Dr. von Post found the key to its age in the pollen grains that were thick in muddy particles clinging to the fabric. Most important among the species represented were oak, linden and elm, with pine, birch and alder and hazelnut as the principal shrub. Exact counts showed that the proportion of the pollen from the oak-linden-elm forest was larger than it would be in Swedish springtime "pollen rain" of today, indicating the existence of a milder climate in the north at the time the mantle was laid away.

Such a mild climate is known from geological evidences to have followed shortly after the disappearance of the last patches of glacial ice in the south of Sweden, at about the time when the new Stone age was giving way to the age of bronze in that country. It was followed by a period of severer climate, ushering in the Iron age. This mild-climate pollen thus determines the former owner of the mantle, who so carefully folded it up and hid it under three stones in a ditch, as a man of the early Bronze age.

Dagger Holes Revealed. The careful workmanship of the weaver, who made the cloth out of a mixture of fine wool and the hair of game animals, probably deer, is described by Emelle von Waterstorf, and the possible romantic history of the garment, which has a number of dagger holes jabbed through it, is hinted at by Sune Lundquist. Mr. Lundquist states also that the toga of the Romans was quite similar in shape to these elliptical Bronze age mantles, though differing in size and manner of wearing. A shorter Roman cloak, the "trabea," worn largely by priests and soldiers, was even more nearly similar.

Reject Mail Delivery

Most American communities begin early to try to prove to Uncle Sam that they are grown up and should have their mail brought to their doors. But in California is a community that does not want its mail delivered. In Carmel-by-the-Sea the property owners recently voted no to mail delivery. The fact is that the town is an artist community and the residents enjoy the primitive way of going after their mail. Another consideration is that the government requires sidewalks to be laid as the first step to free delivery and the residents do not want to lay sidewalks.

No Assets of Deputy Dry Chief Applicable To Liabilities.

Columbus, April 21.—Creditors listed in the voluntary bankruptcy petition of Fred L. West, deputy prohibition administrator here for the Ohio-Michigan district under William H. Walker, receive nothing under the disposition of the case by Referee George B. Bitzer, Chillicothe.

In his petition filed here March 2, West listed liabilities of $40,207. His assets were made up of insurance policies of which his wife is beneficiary and which are not applicable to any of the liabilities.

It's the axle that does the squeaking that gets the grease. Folks who make their needs known and expect their rights usually get what they want. When you want something, you should "sneak" to get it. That's the way the axle gets the grease. It is the fellow who is not afraid to say that his life is his own who usually gets ahead, and to get ahead you must have confidence in yourself. In other words you must be able to convince the folks you meet that you know what you are talking about. You must defend your rights—you must "sneak" whenever the occasion requires it.

At the City Loan you need not be afraid to "sneak" for what you want, for here every honorable borrower is placed on the same footing. You can rest assured that you can borrow up to $500, according to your capacity to pay, thru The City Loan easy payment plan.

Thirtieth Anniversary Celebration April 27-30.

Ever since the organization of the Circleville Athletic Club it has been the aim of the club to give to the public clean, wholesome amusements. They have given their best efforts to entertain the public.

Their first endeavor which probably the old-timers will remember, was the big Fourth of July celebration which went over big. Likewise the largest part of the Club's later endeavors were successful and have pleased the general public who have not been restricted to any set but have been for both old and young, such as dances, basket ball, football and old-time fiddlers. Always it has been their aim to keep abreast of the times and give the public what they want.

For their next social affair they have planned a celebration commemorating the 30th anniversary of the C. A. C. This is an event that will interest both young and old as there will be music, vaudeville and thrills galore. It will be a time to throw off the wintry feeling and let loose for four nights of fun. The dates are April 27th to 30th inclusive and the place is Memorial Hall which will be decorated beautifully for this occasion.

The management promises good vaudeville acts for the entertainment and it is planned for every one to have a good time. Don't miss it.

GAS, CHEAPER
LICENSE TAGSFavored by the Senate Referendum Also Put in Amendments to Bill.Sullivan bill increasing the gasoline tax by 1 cent, and making the total tax on gasoline 3 cents, was passed by the senate Thursday by a vote of 21 yes and 13 no.This bill was introduced by Representative Dallas Sullivan, Union county, and passed in the house. In being considered before the senate motor vehicle committee, the bill was amended to provide a cut of 50 per cent in the cost of license tags for pleasure cars, cutting state revenues $2,500,000 and to provide that the bill shall be subject to referendum.Previous to taking the vote on the gas tax increase in the senate an effort was made to cut out these changes and return the bill to the form in which it was passed by the house. This effort was unsuccessful, and the amendments remained in the bill.The bill was returned to the house
for concurrence in the amendments,
but the house declined to concur and
a conference committee was appointed to try to agree on the changes. At 1 o'clock Friday morning, senate
members of the committee were standing pat on the senate amendments and house members were as insistent that their bill should stand
and this was done.The senate also accepted the challenge of Governor Donahey that he would be a candidate for governor
a fourth time if they interfered with
his gravel roads program and voted
to take $2,000,000 from the amount
the highway department planned to expend for gravel roads during the coming 18 months and allow it to be used for resurfacing and widening.The senate also passed the general appropriations bill, containing $52,500,000 and the house agreed to
changes made in the bill by the senate. The bill now goes to the governor.The cut on gravel roads was the only amendment made by the senate
to the bill as reported to it by its finance committee. The bill carried with it $1,600,000 added by the committee for maintenance of the state's welfare institutions, $172,000 inserted by the committee for a cottage at Toledo State hospital, $200,000 for
new buildings at Bowling Green Normal school, $500,000 for a physical education building at Miami university. The latter two items were deleted Wednesday.The amendment cutting down the allowance for gravel roads was inserted by Senator Allan Aigler,
Huron county, and was opposed by Senators Roy Gillen, Jackson county
and E. LeFever, Athens county. The amendment was adopted by a vote of 25 to 8 and the bill was passed 32
to 0.Technically the house and senate
recessed for "five minutes" but this was merely a parliamentary fiction to permit bills to be signed during adjournment.The recess came after a hectic
session which began Thursday morning was marked by heated words and
a near fist fight between two legislators and climaxed in the early hours
Friday when the weary, perspiring,
sleepy group broke the deadlock
over the important Sullivan gasoline
tax increase bill. After struggling
and fighting for nearly 24 hours continuously the legislators completed
their task and went home.The deadlock over the Sullivan
bill, which threatened for hours to upset the most important measure in
the taxation program was ended
when the house yielded to the insistence of the upper body and approved
a fifty per cent reduction in automobile tag license fees.The amendment was written into
the proposal by the senate Thursday
afternoon, but the house stubbornly
refused to agree. A conference committee was appointed.Materials in AutosThe following minerals are listed as

Hall, Columbus Thursday
Evening, April 21.All that Mrs. Wilcox found suggested in the noble music of the harp was apparent Thursday night at Memorial hall, Columbus, in the playing of Joseph Vito, harpist of Cincinnati Symphony orchestra and head of the harp department of Cincinnati Conservatory, a splendid artist.And in the performance of Virginia Doughty, daughter of Clark C.

her nineteenth birthday anniversary
by making her concert debut from Memorial hall stage, lies a promise that some day, after a further course of th fine training Vito is giving her this young musician will be able to invoke the same poetic images from harp strings.She is intended by nature to be a harpist. Beautiful white hands, a gracious manner and modest personality, are among her virtues.However, aside from the novelty of the attraction and the beauty of the stage setting Thursday's night affair was closer to the realm of

Forgot His Own Name

For a man to forget his own name is a fairly common freak of memory. One of the most amusing instances is that of a famous diplomat who, on paying an official visit at the mansion of an important member of a foreign government, was unable to give his name to the servant who opened the door. After hesitating a moment, he amazed some companions by inquiring earnestly, "Pray, gentlemen, who am I?"

Find Similar Fossils in Separated Regions

Providence, R. I.—The weird forests that grew in the widely separated swamps of what are now the states of Rhode Island and Missouri were strikingly alike in the plants that composed them, according to Dr. Eda M. Round, writing in the Botanical Gazette.

Doctor Round has made a close comparison of fossil plant remains from the sandstones and shales of these regions, and states that over 50 per cent of the plant species of the two localities were identical.

None of the species that grew there those many millions of years ago survives into the present time, but the nearest relatives of some of them are now represented by ferns, club-mosses and scouring-rushes or horsetails. Two classes of plants, in some ways the most interesting of all, are now totally extinct. These were a group of trailing or vine-like plants related to the ferns, and another group with leaves like ferns but bearing true seeds, which are unknown among modern ferns.

FLORIDA HENS WORK HARDER THAN OHIO'S

Southern Poultrymen in Communication to State Specialist.

Florida poultrymen would starve if their flocks produced no more eggs on the average, than Ohio flocks do, according to a letter sent to P. B. Zumbro, poultry extension specialist at the Ohio State university, by a Florida poultryman.

The average egg production of the flocks cooperating with the county agents and state university in keeping records in 1926 was 143.6 eggs per hen, this Florida poultryman was told. That average, furthermore, is double the state average egg production. But the Floridian replied: "I am surprised to know that the egg production on Ohio demonstration farms is so low. Here in Florida we figure that we must get at least 50 per cent production thruout the year in order to come out even in the business."

Fifty per cent production for the year, Mr. Zumbro points out, means 180 eggs per hen.

"How many of us would be interested in poultry here in Ohio," Mr. Zumbro asks, "if it were necessary to get an average of 180 eggs per hen in order to break even? Our Florida friend was sent a copy of the bulletin, "Poultry Profits in Ohio." Probably he will open his eyes when he sees that Ohio poultry demonstrators made on the average $2.69 labor income per hen last year. And this was on a production of 140 eggs.

"As competition becomes keener, however, it will be necessary for us to get high production here in Ohio. We all know that right now the people who are getting a high egg production, especially in the winter, are the ones who are pocketing the money."

APPLE STILL KING DESPITE ORANGEMEN

Red Cheeked Fruit Rules as Favorite in Ohio, Cities Indicate.

The apple is still King of Fruits in Ohio.

There have been far-reaching plots particularly by the Orangemen of Florida and California, to force him to abdicate, but he still wields the sceptre that daily keeps doctors away according to analysis of market reports by rural economists at the Ohio State university.

Greatly increased consumption of other fruits has not yet stolen King Apple's popularity, to judge by records for the past three years from Ohio's four largest cities, Cleveland, Cincinnati, Columbus and Toledo.

Total number of carlots of apples unloaded each year in these cities has not yet been exceeded by any other fruit. Apples lead, the economists have found, with an average of 3818 cars annually in the four cities combined. Oranges come next with 3404 cars annually; grapes third with 2797 cars; peaches fourth with 2486 cars.

Since oranges are almost always shipped by rail into Ohio, carlot figures give accurate measure of orange consumption here, the economists point out.

Thousands of bushels of apples, peaches and grapes on the other hand, are hauled in to Ohio cities by truck, or are bought at roadside markets. In truck shipments, however, the economists believe King Apple still is in the lead.

Can't Compel Thrift

While an employer may compel those who work under him to save a certain portion of their earnings, actual experience along these lines has shown that this practice arouses resentment and prejudice and that infinitely more harm than good is done.—Thrift Magazine.

Waste in Oil Production

In mining oil there is much waste. In some instances as much as ten barrels are left in the ground in getting out one. Also more natural gas is blown into the air when measured from the standpoint of energy, than the energy value of all the oil thus recovered.

AMUSEMENTS

Buster Keaton has taken his frozen face into the prize ring. At least, he masquerades as a pugilist, gets himself involved in a peck of trouble and finally has to fight the world's champion. And what a fight it is!

The famous comedian's hilarious venture into the realms of fistiana forms the basis of the plot of "Battling Butler," Keaton's latest picture now showing at the Met theater. Heralded at Buster's crowing achievement in laugh provoking, "Battling Butler" is living up to its promise by convulsing audiences at every performance.

"Battling Butler" is different; it has as absorbing plot and is invested with elaborate settings that would do credit to the biggest cast, including captivating Sally O'Neil, Snitz Edwards, Tow Wilson, Francis McDonald, Mary O'Brien, Eddie Bordon and Buddy Fine is excellent.

The comedy gives Buster the opportunity to again show his versatility. He portrays a rich young idler who falls in love and then has to pose as a prize fighter in order to win the girl, whose family believes him to be weakling because of his fine clothes, valet and luxurious surroundings. The comedian takes the name of "Battling Butler," but when the real "Battler" appears on the scene, Buster finds himself hopelessly tangled in the web of deception. How he finally triumphs and whips the champion in a vicious battle that makes the fight in the original "Spoilers" look like a petting party, provides a sensational climax in which thrills vie with mirthful moments.

"Battling Butler" was produced by Joseph M. Schenck for Metro-Goldwyn release.

What is so sweet and relaxing as the moment when the children fall sound asleep for the night?

How Do You Choose Shoes?

"Star Brand Shoes Are Better"

Do you select shoes which will be smart and becoming and entirely suited to your needs?—or simply because they happen to be the newest fad?

In a season when so many styles are brought forth, it is very wise to choose your shoes for definite purposes, or to wear with certain costumes. For, after all, being "well dressed" depends upon your own attractiveness. And clothes, or shoes chosen in that way, will always give greater pleasure.

Everywhere we look we see under hand cracks being taken at children. The Chart of Table Manners in the Woman's Home Companion says they "should not be permitted to leave the table to play or read between courses. FAGS NO EVIL

At Least That Seems To Be the Opinion of Entrants In Essay Contest.

New York, April 20.—(UP.)—Three out of four high school and college girls who wrote prize essays on health for the National Life Conservation Society did not include smoking as a deleterious practice.

Dorothy Gleason, 18, of Kansas City, who won the first prize of $200, advised eight hours of sleep, clothes that fit the weather, sensible food and a minimum of ice cream and candy.

None of the several thousand essays entered in the contest mentioned drinking.

WAS THE WATCH YOU CARRY NEW...WHEN HANSOMS RULED THE STREETS?

A watch may never lose a second yet be many years slow

The owner of such a watch may never miss a train or an appointment but it is the one false note in his modern makeup, probably the only thing he has that stamps him as a bit old-fashioned, a trifle behind the times. And yet a new and modish Elgin can be had at a moderate sum. Slipped into your pocket, or strapped on your wrist, it will win and hold your affection as no other watch possibly can. For Elgin is conceded to be the world's standard for watch integrity.

CALUX CUP SPRAY KILLS CODDLING MOTH

Altho Do Not Appear For
Five Weeks, Now is the
Time to Spray.

This is the first coddling moth spray
of the season, the coddling moth eggs
do not commence to hatch from three
to five weeks after the fall of the bloom, this period of time depending upon the weather.

The purpose of the calyx-cup spray
is to fill the calyx with poison. This will serve to trap and kill the worms
which seek to enter the calyx thruout the remainder of the season. If
the spray is made thoroly it will continue to kill coddling moth worms until September. The presence of apples which show calyx injury during
the summer and fall indicate that the spray was not applied or was not thoro.

This spray also kills newly hatched
canker worms, which at this time are beginning to feed upon the tender foliage. Canker worms are the slender "measuring worms" which suspend themselves by threads of
web when the trees are disturbed or sprayed. It is the most effective spray against those worms and usually controls them.

The materials to use are:
Lime-sulphur (liquid) 1 gallon;
arsenate of lead, 1 1/4 pounds; water,
50 gallons; or dry lime-sulphur, 3
pounds; arsenate of lead 1 1/4 pounds,
water 50 gallons.

If aphids are numerous one-half
pint of nicotine sulphate should be added. Aphids are more numerous in Ohio orchards than last spring.
Spraying at this time is only a partial control, owing to the difficulty of
striking them with the spray.

Apply using good pressure and wet
all blossom clusters. Repeat in three weeks on varieties that do not blotch.
For varieties affected with blotch,
follow the disease spray service as
directed for these varieties.

THE "WHAT NOT" BANQUET GIVEN BY BROTHERHOOD

Of Lutheran Church Thursday Evening Proves to
be a Big Success.

Another stunt conceived, tried out
and proven by the Lutheran Brotherhood. About 100 men carrying baskets, pans, pots, dishes and sacks
trudged into the society room with
every kind of food it would be possible to mention—young onions to
chicken, bread and butter to angel
food cake, anything, everything,
scrambled. A hodge-podge of edibles
such as the writer had never before
seen gathered together at one place.

They also brought with them the things that are even better—a twinkle in their eye, a kindness in
their comradeship and a manifestation of their brotherly love. In the vernacular of the circus "the biggest stunt ever put across."

Mr. Frank Palm with a dozen assistants arranged the tables and
served the food. The program consisted in the following responses to
the toastmaster's call:

"Gleeful Prognostications on the new Society Room" E. C. Ebert

"What's Your Hurry?"

. J. C. Goeller, Jr.

"Is Education Losing Its Ideal-
ism?" Prof. W. W. Gulden

"Hash" George Griffith

Carl Seitz and his four harmon-
izers furnished the music. E. Sensenbrenner acted as toastmaster.

Next meeting on May 5, will be a
"Bon Voyage" to Rev. Troutman,
who with his son, George, is leaving
on a three months' vacation to the Holy Land.

Fish's Many Names

A sea trout has various names in different parts of the world. In Devon
and Cornwall it is always a peal; in Ireland it is a white trout. In Scotland, finnock, herling, and whittling
are names given to the young sea
trout, and another common name for
this fish is salmon trout.

Suffrage and other modern-day
equalities may have cost woman some
of her privileges, but she still clings
to the marriage rites.

PESTILENCE FOLLOWS GREAT FLOOD

CALL SENT OUT FOR VACCINE FOR FIVE THOUSAND PERSONS

Government Relief Launch With Eighteen Refugees Aboard Darts Thru Crack In Dike On Mississippi—Caught In Eddy and All Perish—Railroad Bridge Washed Away—Cold Wave Adds To Horror of Victims.

Eighteen people were reported drowned when the government launch Pelican was pulled thru a levee break at Knowlton Landing, 50 miles south of Helena, Arkansas, on the Mississippi river early Thursday morning, according to messages received.

The boat was said to have been caught in the swirl of water outside the break as it was attempting to deliver refugees from the bank to the steamer Wabash, which was passing up the river.

The Knowlton levee is in the same locality and opposite the crevasse at Stops Landing early Thursday.

No communication could be established with that district, which is isolated from a telephone for 25 miles or more.

Local Red Cross officials dispatched a boat at 6 o'clock Thursday night for Knowlton, hoping to save others reported to be marooned on the levee top there and in immediate peril. The levee was caving it was said, and people were crying for aid when the Wabash passed up, with hundreds crowded onto a barge and on its decks. They were unable to take on additional refugees, according to the reports received.

Major H. K. Monroe, government engineer, was satisfied that the reports of the Pelican's sinking were true. The government steamer Chieftain, arrived shortly before 6 o'clock, was sent back into the Knowlton district while the Red Cross obtained the services of two gas boats.

Local river authorities could not say when the Wabash will arrive due to the uncertain conditions of the river below Helena.

The Mississippi flood had extended into the lower valley Thursday night as a cold wave came in from the west to add to the discomfort of the 150,000 homeless and placed added handicaps in the way of the men along the levees.

The main levee on the Mississippi broke at Stops Landing, 18 miles above Greenville early Thursday and let thru waters upon an area of 50 miles wide and 75 miles long in eight Mississippi counties.

Greenville faced inundation, as did a score of more smaller communities before the flood waters again reached the main stream near Vicksburg.

Backwaters from the Ouichita river were approaching Monroe, Louisiana, and vicinity.

Arkansas, with its thousands of refugees, many of them ill, huddled in improved camps little prepared for warmth, was in the path of the cold wave. Cold weather overspread other parts of the valley, while winds created waves on the river, adding to the seriousness of the situation.

What's in a Name? Ink, Says Bueltzingsloewen
Laporte, Ind.—Local mathematicians are figuring out how much ink will be saved each year if the petition of Emil Bueltzingsloewen to have his surname changed to Buell is approved by Judge John C. Richter in Circuit court. As treasurer of a local factory Bueltzingsloewen has to sign his name several hundred times a day.

Without an occasional row home would be as uninteresting and deadly as a club.

along the banks of the Mississippi. At Hickman, Kentucky, the Reelfoot levee, protecting nearly 200 square miles of lowlands, was in danger because of said boils and waves lashing over the top of the dykes. Other points where government engineers were concentrating their efforts were at Knowlton, Arkansas, between Helena and Loconia Circle, and at Albermarle Bend, 30 miles north of Vicksburg.

The crevasse at Stops Landing had been foreseen for 48 hours and was warned, the residents of that section had made preparations to meet the overflow or to reach safety and it was believed all had escaped.

Disease was reported spreading at Van Buren, Wynne, Parkin and Forrest City, Arkansas. Measles, whooping cough and mumps were increasing in some of the camps and a call for typhoid and smallpox vaccine for 500 refugees came from Forrest City. The vaccine was ordered from St. Louis.

The flood situation became more acute along the lower reaches of the Arkansas river from Little Rock to Pine Bluff and southeast to the confluence of the White and Mississippi rivers. The Red Cross chapter at Little Rock reported that "hundreds of families" were in danger of drowning unless rescued within a few hours.

Mrs. Gilpin is the first queen of the blond type to be selected.

Seeks Prehistoric Man in Danube Salt Mines

Vienna, Austria.—Dr. William Frederic Bader of Berkeley, Calif., is trying to wrest from the ancient salt mines of Hallstadt the story of the lively commerce which he believes was once carried on between early inhabitants of the Danube basin and peoples of Asia Minor.

His research is being conducted at the request of the prehistoric section of the Vienna Natural History museum. He is assisted by Prof. Adolph Mahr of Vienna. Later, Doctor Mahr will accompany Doctor Bader to Palestine for archeological research.

Thrilling Scene on Jersey Waterfront

A photograph shows a view of the million-dollar Jersey City pier fire, taken from a ferryboat on the river. Fifty freight cars on the Pennsylvania railroad piers were destroyed by the flames.

HAPPENINGS IN OUR STATE

Taken Direct From Wires By Correspondents of the United States Press Association.

Delaware—Twenty-five Ohio high schools are participating here today and tomorrow in the third annual state high school extempore speaking contest under auspices of Ohio Wesleyan university. Preliminary events are being held today and the final contests will follow tomorrow.

Columbus—The authorized mail line between Cleveland and Louisville via, Columbus will start operation in October. O. J. Miller, flying representative of the U. S. department of commerce, announced during his visit at Norton field.

Zanesville—No trace has yet been found of Charles S. Hoskinson 65, Zanesville business man and prominent Mason, who disappeared from his home April 11. Friends believed he would be found in Columbus but attempts to locate him have failed so far.

Cincinnati—Arrangements for removal of 16 liquor violators to the Troy, Ohio Jail Monday, were made by Stanley Borthwick, U. S. marshal today. The men entered pleas of guilty and were sentenced by Benson W. Hough, U. S. district judge.

Middletown—The skeleton of a boy found in a field along the river bottoms near Trenton, Ohio, by women picking dandelions probably is that of Roy Ramseyer, 13, who drowned near that place during the 1913 flood, authorities said. A pocket knife and pin found near the bones were similar to those owned by the boy.

French Cafe Offers Drinkers Good Advice

Paris.—The gentleman drinker has his code even in this land of light wines and beers, where, so some writers say, hard liquor is shunned and true temperance reigns.

"Come here freely," says a sign on a little cafe in the suburbs of Paris. "Drink moderately, pay honorably, leave amicably, and go home quietly."

It further enjoins its clients to recall that:

"Four glasses make a quart, two quarts a round, two rounds a discussion, and a discussion one quarrel."

"One quarrel makes a battle, one battle calls for two policemen. A justice of the peace, a court clerk and a bailiff equal a fine or a few days in jail, plus costs."

"Keep this in mind," the placard concludes.

INEZ PALMER ADMITS MURDER IS GIVEN LIFE

Pleads Guilty to Slaying of William Stout, Father of Man She Loved.

A sordid tragedy of unlawful love and of murder was brought to a close in Vinton county court at McArthur Thursday when Inez Palmer plead guilty to a first degree murder indictment and was sentenced to life imprisonment in the women's reformatory at Marysville.

Mrs. Palmer, an attractive woman of 24, was indicted for the slaying of William Stout, well-to-do farmer and father of Arthur Stout, with whom Mrs. Palmer lived "without benefit of clergy" for nearly a year in a little shack in the hills.

Arthur Stout, 33, now is serving a life term in Ohio penitentiary for implication in the murder of his stepmother, Sarah Stout, second wife of William.

Judge Darby prefaced his sentence with a statement that mercy should be extended the woman that she might escape the electric chair. She will have, however, no hope of pardon or parole.

Arthur Stout was convicted on a second degree indictment and altho his term also is life, he has hope of parole or pardon.

YOUTH KILLED WHEN ROADSTER TURNS TURTLE

Howard Riley, 22, son of R. L. Riley, merchant, Chillicothe, was killed Thursday night when his roadster overturned on the Columbus pike.

With Glen Gray and Russell Schaefer, Chillicothe, Riley was returning from a fishing trip. They said the car skidded in passing another automobile and overturned when the driver tried to right it. Gray and Schaefer escaped with slight bruises.

Provide for Education

In preparing a budget, the sum for education varies with the ages and needs of the family. It should include tuition, carfare, textbooks and supplies. The family which has caught the big spirit of budgeting will plan in advance for college years when the educational demands are heavy.

Secret of Towers Is Revealed by Britain

London.—Nine years after the armistice the British admiralty has just now revealed for the first time the secret of the famous floating "mystery towers," two of which were built during the war for use off the Straits of Dover.

These towers, 80 feet high and costing $6,000,000 each, it is now stated, were intended to be the forerunners of a whole series of towers which were to be towed out to sea and strung in a line across the Dover straits. Each tower was to be heavily fortified, with powerful searchlights mounted on top. They were to be linked together at distances of a few hundred yards and between the towers was to be strung a curtain of massive steel netting reaching from a few inches below the level of the surface of the water to the bottom of the channel.

In this way the admiralty expected to put an effective end to the submarine menace in the channel. The end of the war came, however, before the towers could be put into use. One was sold and broken up for salvage. The other is now anchored off Spithead, where it has replaced the famous Nab light ship, off the eastern end of the Isle of Wight.

MOSE MILLER IS IN BAD AT CHILLICOTHE

Claims He Run Down and Killed George Pryor at Roxabel, Sunday Night.

John Baker, colored of Frankfort, questioned by Sheriff Immell, Thursday morning as to his knowledge of the circumstances under which George Pryor, of Roxabel, was killed by a hit-skip motorist, Sunday night and in connection with which Mose Miller, of Circleville, is being held, made the following statement in the sheriff's office:

"Yes, I was riding in Miller's car that night when he hit Pryor and knocked him down and hurried on without stopping to see how badly he had hurt Pryor. I had asked Miller to let me ride in his car, as Miller was going towards Frankfort."

"Miller was drunk. We saw Pryor plainly ahead of the car, staggering along on the road, also going towards Frankfort. Miller made no effort to avoid striking Pryor. The right side of his car hit Pryor, and the right headlight was knocked out. Pryor fell over to the right side of the road."

"Before hitting Pryor, I told Miller to look out, or he would hit him. But he paid no attention to what I said, saying something about 'that being all right,' and went right on. When we got to Frankfort, he let me out, telling me to say nothing about hitting anybody and adding that he was going right on. He was traveling pretty lively when the car hit Pryor.—Scioto Gazette."

Mr. Miller was accompanied by his wife and Mrs. Jennie Ragland and husband on the ill fated trip so it is claimed.

WOMAN'S TALK SPILLS BEANS IN FORD TRIAL

Federal Judge Raymond Discharges Jury in Famous Million Dollar Suit.

An order of mistrial granted upon motion of defense counsel Thursday at Detroit, Michigan ended Aaron Sapiro's $1,000,000 libel suit against Henry Ford.

Judge Fred M. Raymond ordered the jury discharged and instructed a mistrial be entered upon the plea of Stewart Hanley heading the Ford defense in the absence of Senator James A. Reed of Missouri, that Mrs. Cora Hoffman eleventh juror chosen, when the trial started six weeks ago had granted an interview, the substance of which appeared in last Tuesday's Detroit Times.

Judge Raymond expressly cleared Mrs. Hoffman of allegations made in a series of affidavits by Ford detectives and other employees that he had discussed a $20,000 bribe with "Kid" Miller, and that she had wrongly stated she was a qualified juror and asserted disbelief that Sapiro had indulged in any misconduct as asserted in the affidavit.

AGE-OLD GARMENT IS FOUND IN PEAT BED

Pollen on Woolen Garment Reveals Its Antiquity.

Stockholm, Sweden.—A woolen mantle, worn in Sweden when the early pharaohs still reigned in Egypt, has had its age approximately determined by a curious combination of botanical and geological knowledge, through the researches of Dr. Lennart von Post of the Museum of National Antiquities here. The garment was found buried at a depth of several feet in a peat bed in the district of Vastergotland, carefully folded up and weighted down with three stones, but with nothing about it to indicate how it got there.

Its similarity to Bronze age garments from Denmark and elsewhere suggested its antiquity. The fact that it had evidently not been buried, but had lain in its hiding place while the moss grew over it to form about five feet of peat, was further evidence of great age. The acid water of the bog had preserved it from decay during the centuries.

Pollen Grains Key to Age.

Dr. von Post found the key to its age in the pollen grains that were thick in muddy particles clinging to the fabric. Most important among the species represented were oak, linden and elm, with pine, birch and alder and hazelnut as the principal shrub. Exact counts showed that the proportion of the pollen from the oak-linden-elm forest was larger than it would be in Swedish springtime "pollen rain" of today, indicating the existence of a milder climate in the north at the time the mantle was laid away.

Such a mild climate is known from geological evidences to have followed shortly after the disappearance of the last patches of glacial ice in the south of Sweden, at about the time when the new Stone age was giving way to the age of bronze in that country. It was followed by a period of severer climate, ushering in the Iron age. This mild-climate pollen thus determines the former owner of the mantle, who so carefully folded it up and hid it under three stones in a ditch, as a man of the early Bronze age.

Dagger Holes Revealed.

The careful workmanship of the weaver, who made the cloth out of a mixture of fine wool and the hair of game animals, probably deer, is described by Emelle von Walterstorf, and the possible romantic history of the garment, which has a number of dagger holes jabbed through it, is hinted at by Sune Lundquist. Mr. Lundquist states also that the toga of the Romans was quite similar in shape to these elliptical Bronze age mantles, though differing in size and manner of wearing. A shorter Roman cloak, the "trabea," worn largely by priests and soldiers, was even more nearly similar.

Reject Mail Delivery

Most American communities begin early to try to prove to Uncle Sam that they are grown up and should have their mail brought to their doors. But in California is a community that does not want its mail delivered. In Carmel-by-the-Sea the property owners recently voted no to mail delivery. The fact is that the town is an artist community and the residents enjoy the primitive way of going after their mail. Another consideration is that the government requires sidewalks to be laid as the first step to free delivery and the residents do not want to lay sidewalks.

CREDITORS LOSE

No Assets of Deputy Dry Chief Applicable To Liabilities.

Columbus, April 21.—Creditors listed in the voluntary bankruptcy petition of Fred L. West, deputy prohibition administrator here for the Ohio-Michigan district under William H. Walker, receive nothing under the disposition of the case by Referee George B. Bitzer, Chillicothe.

In his petition filed here March 2, West listed liabilities of $46,207. His assets were made up of insurance policies of which his wife is beneficiary and which are not applicable to any of the liabilities.

What a comfort Methuselah must have been to the life insurance companies.

LOANS UP TO $500

It's the axle that does the squeaking that gets the grease. Folks who make their needs known and expect their rights, usually get what they want. When you want something, you should "squeak" to get it. That's the way the axle gets the grease. It is the fellow who is not afraid to say that his life is his own who usually gets ahead, and to get ahead you must have confidence in yourself. In other words you must be able to convince the folks you meet that you know what you are talking about. You must defend your rights—you must "squeak" whenever the occasion requires it.

At the City Loan you need not be afraid to "squeak" for what you want, for here every honorable borrower is placed on the same footing. You can rest assured that you can borrow up to $500, according to your capacity to pay, thru The City Loan easy payment plan.

C. A. C.
Thirtieth Anniversary Celebration April 27-30.

Ever since the organization of the Circleville Athletic Club it has been the aim of the club to give to the public clean, wholesome amusements. They have given their best efforts to entertain the public.

Their first endeavor which probably the old-timers will remember, was the big Fourth of July celebration which went over big. Likewise the largest part of the Club's later endeavors were successful and have pleased the general public who have not been restricted to any set but have been for both old and young, such as dances, basket ball, football and old-time fiddlers. Always it has been their aim to keep abreast of the times and give the public what they want.

For their next social affair they have planned a celebration commemorating the 30th anniversary of the C. A. C. This is an event that will interest both young and old as there will be music, vaudeville and thrills galore. It will be a time to throw off the wintry feeling and let loose for four nights of fun. The dates are April 27th to 30th inclusive and the place is Memorial Hall which will be decorated beautifully for this occasion.

The management promises good vaudeville acts for the entertainment and it is planned for every one to have a good time. Don't miss it.

and the amendments remained in the
bill.The bill was returned to the house
for concurrence in the amendments,
but the house declined to concur and
a conference committee was appointed to try to agree on the changes. At 1 o'clock Friday morning, senate
members of the committee were
standing pat on the senate amendments and house members were as
insistent that their bill should stand
and this was done.The senate also accepted the challenge of Governor Donahey that he
would be a candidate for governor
a fourth time if they interfered with
his gravel roads program and voted
to take $2,000,000 from the amount
the highway department planned to
expend for gravel roads during the
coming 18 months and allow it to be used for resurfacing and widening.The senate also passed the general appropriations bill, containing $52,500,000 and the house agreed to
changes made in the bill by the senate. The bill now goes to the governor.The cut on gravel roads was the only amendment made by the senate
to the bill as reported to it by its
finance committee. The bill carried
with it $1,600,000 added by the committee for maintenance of the state's welfare institutions, $172,000 inserted by the committee for a cottage at Toledo State hospital, $200,000 for
new buildings at Bowling Green Normal school, $500,000 for a physical
education building at Miami university. The latter two items were deleted Wednesday.The amendment cutting down the
allowance for gravel roads was inserted by Senator Allan Aigler,
Huron county, and was opposed by
Senators Roy Gillen, Jackson county
and E. LeFever, Athens county. The amendment was adopted by a vote of 25 to 8 and the bill was passed 32
to 0.Technically the house and senate
recessed for "five minutes" but this was merely a parliamentary fiction to permit bills to be signed during adjournment.The recess came after a hectic
session which began Thursday morning was marked by heated words and
a near fist fight between two legislators and climaxed in the early hours
Friday when the weary, perspiring,
sleepy group broke the deadlock
over the important Sullivan gasoline
tax increase bill. After struggling
and fighting for nearly 24 hours continuously the legislators completed
their task and went home.The deadlock over the Sullivan
bill, which threatened for hours to
upset the most important measure in
the taxation program was ended
when the house yielded to the insis-
tence of the upper body and approved
a fifty per cent reduction in automobile tag license fees.The amendment was written into
the proposal by the senate Thursday
afternoon, but the house stubbornly
refused to agree. A conference committee was appointed.Materials in AutosThe following minerals are listed as

Forgot His Own Name
For a man to forget his own name is a fairly common freak of memory. One of the most amusing instances is that of a famous diplomat who, on paying an official visit at the mansion of an important member of a foreign government, was unable to give his name to the servant who opened the door. After hesitating a moment, he amazed some companions by inquiring earnestly, "Pray, gentlemen, who am I?"

Find Similar Fossils in Separated Regions
Providence, R. I.—The weird forests that grew in the widely separated swamps of what are now the states of Rhode Island and Missouri were strikingly alike in the plants that composed them, according to Dr. Eda M. Round, writing in the Botanical Gazette.
Doctor Round has made a close comparison of fossil plant remains from the sandstones and shales of these regions, and states that over 50 per cent of the plant species of the two localities were identical.
None of the species that grew there those many millions of years ago survives into the present time, but the nearest relatives of some of them are now represented by ferns, club-mosses and scouring-rushes or horsetails. Two classes of plants, in some ways the most interesting of all, are now totally extinct. These were a group of trailing or vine-like plants related to the ferns, and another group with leaves like ferns but bearing true seeds, which are unknown among modern ferns.

FLORIDA HENS WORK HARDER THAN OHIO'S
Southern Poultrymen in Communication to State Specialist.

Florida poultrymen would starve if their flocks produced no more eggs on the average, than Ohio flocks do, according to a letter sent to P. B. Zumbro, poultry extension specialist at the Ohio State university, by a Florida poultryman.
The average egg production of the flocks cooperating with the county agents' and state university in keeping records in 1926 was 143.6 eggs per hen, this Florida poultryman was told. That average, furthermore, is double the state average egg production. But the Floridian replied: "I am surprised to know that the egg production on Ohio demonstration farms is so low. Here in Florida we figure that we must get at least 50 per cent production thruout the year in order to come out even in the business."
Fifty per cent production for the year, Mr. Zumbro points out, means 180 eggs per hen.
"How many of us would be interested in poultry here in Ohio," Mr. Zumbro asks, "if it were necessary to get an average of 180 eggs per hen in order to break even? Our Florida friend was sent a copy of the bulletin, 'Poultry Profits in Ohio.' Probably he will open his eyes when he sees that Ohio poultry demonstrators made on the average $2.69 labor income per hen last year. And this was on a production of 140 eggs.
"As competition becomes keener, however, it will be necessary for us to get high production here in Ohio. We all know that right now the people who are getting a high egg production, especially in the winter, are the ones who are pocketing the money."

APPLE STILL KING DESPITE ORANGEMEN
Red Cheeked Fruit Rules as Favorite in Ohio, Cities Indicate.

The apple is still King of Fruits in Ohio.
There have been far-reaching plots particularly by the Orangemen of Florida and California, to force him to abdicate, but he still wields the sceptre that daily keeps doctors away according to analysis of market reports by rural economists at the Ohio State university.
Greatly increased consumption of other fruits has not yet stolen King Apple's popularity, to judge by records for the past three years from Ohio's four largest cities, Cleveland, Cincinnati, Columbus and Toledo.
Total number of carlots of apples unloaded each year in these cities has not yet been exceeded by any other fruit. Apples lead, the economists have found, with an average of 3818 cars annually in the four cities combined. Oranges come next with 3404 cars annually; grapes third with 2797 cars; peaches fourth with 2486 cars.
Since oranges are almost always shipped by rail into Ohio, carlot figures give accurate measure of orange consumption here, the economists point out.
Thousands of bushels of apples, peaches and grapes on the other hand, are hauled in to Ohio cities by truck, or are bought at roadside markets. In truck shipments, however, the economists believe King Apple still is in the lead.
Can't Compel Thrift
While an employer may compel those who work under him to save a certain portion of their earnings, actual experience along these lines has shown that this practice arouses resentment and prejudice and that infinitely more harm than good is done.—Thrift Magazine.

Waste in Oil Production
In mining oil there is much waste. In some instances as much as ten barrels are left in the ground in getting out one. Also more natural gas is blown into the air when measured from the standpoint of energy, than the energy value of all the oil thus recovered.

AMUSEMENTS
Buster Keaton has taken his frozen face into the prize ring. At least, he masquerades as a pugilist, gets himself involved in a peck of trouble and finally has to fight the world's champion. And what a fight it is!
The famous comedian's hilarious venture into the realms of fistiana forms the basis of the plot of "Battling Butler," Keaton's latest picture now showing at the Met theater. Heralded at Buster's crowing achievement in laugh provoking, "Battling Butler" is living up to its promise by convulsing audiences at every performance.
"Battling Butler" is different; it has as absorbing plot and is invested with elaborate settings that would do credit to the biggest cast, including captivating Sally O'Neil, Snitz Edwards, Tow Wilson, Francis McDonald, Mary O'Brien, Eddie Bordon and Buddy Fine is excellent.
The comedy gives Buster the opportunity to again show his versatility. He portrays a rich young idler who falls in love and then has to pose as a prize fighter in order to win the girl, whose family believes him to be weakling because of his fine clothes, valet and luxurious surroundings. The comedian takes the name of "Battling Butler," but when the real "Battler" appears on the scene, Buster finds himself hopelessly tangled in the web of deception. How he finally triumphs and whips the champion in a vicious battle that makes the fight in the original "Spoilers" look like a petting party, provides a sensational climax in which thrills vie with mirthful moments.
"Battling Butler" was produced by Joseph M. Schenck for Metro-Goldwyn release.
What is so sweet and relaxing as the moment when the children fall sound asleep for the night?

How Do You Choose Shoes?

Do you select shoes which will be smart and becoming and entirely suited to your needs?—or simply because they happen to be the newest fad?

In a season when so many styles are brought forth, it is very wise to choose your shoes for definite purposes, or to wear with certain costumes. For, after all, being "well dressed" depends upon your own attractiveness. And clothes, or shoes chosen in that way, will always give greater pleasure.

WAS THE WATCH YOU CARRY NEW...WHEN HANSOMS RULED THE STREETS?

A watch may never lose a second yet be many years slow

The owner of such a watch may never miss a train or an appointment but it is the one false note in his modern makeup, probably the only thing he has that stamps him as a bit old-fashioned, a trifle behind the times. And yet a new and modish Elgin can be had at a moderate sum. Slipped into your pocket, or strapped on your wrist, it will win and hold your affection as no other watch possibly can. For Elgin is conceded to be the world's standard for watch integrity.

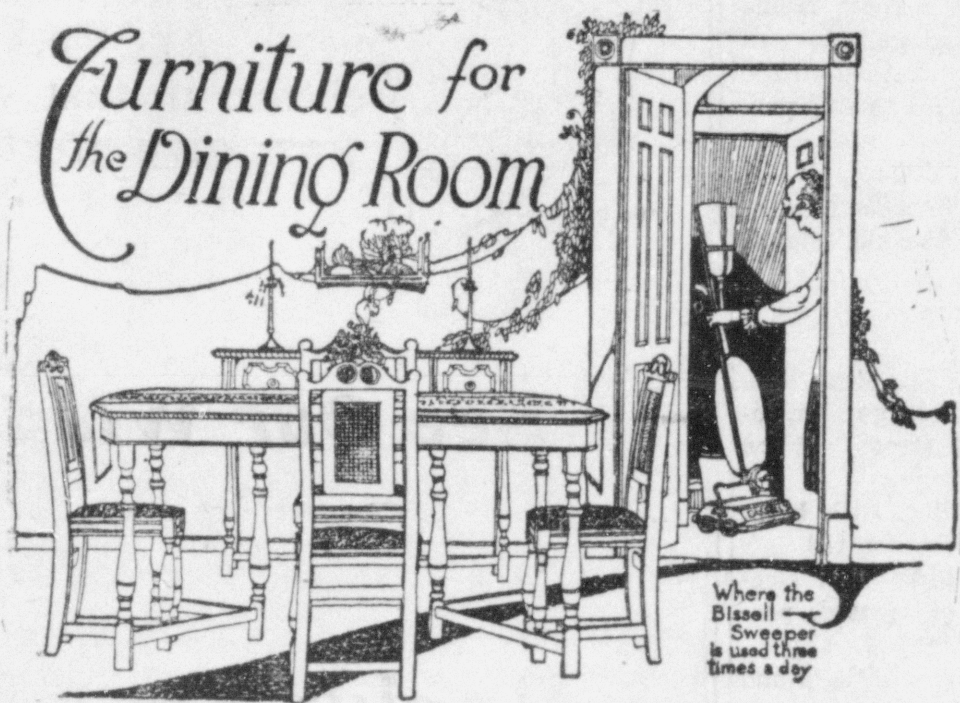

THE WOMAN'S WRIST WATCH, in a case of 14-karat solid white gold, is priced at $60. THE MAN'S WATCH may be had in a 14-karat gold-filled case of white or green tone. Sells for $40.

We will show these and other Elgins to you gladly. No other watch is offered in so general an assortment of styles nor at a price range so liberal.

Ingersoll's Fine Tribute
Probably the quotation to the effect that a man would sleep under a blanket of flowers were each good deed a blossom is the one from Robert Ingersoll's address at the grave of his brother: "He added to the sum of human joy, and were every one for whom he did some loving service to bring a blossom to his grave he would sleep tonight beneath a wilderness of flowers."

Looks like new; it isn't tho just had them cleaned at Barnhill's, very common remark. Call office 710.

Radio Ears
The world is developing a finer sense of hearing as the result of listening on the radio according to Charles M. Adams, in Radio News. Not only is audition more sensitive in the majority of mankind since the popularity of the receiving set, but Mr. Adams considers it probable that human imagination is growing more facile, being able to conceive the atmosphere of a church on hearing a service broadcast, or picturing a play on reception of its lines.

DECISION OF PROBATE JUDGE ADKINS
On Application of Harvey Fletcher For a Writ of Habeas Corpus.

Probate Court, Pickaway County, Ohio. Number 9875. Application of Harvey Fletcher For a Writ of Habeas Corpus. Decision of the Court April 18, 1927.

Harvey Fletcher arrested and brought before Geo. M. Fitzpatrick, Mayor of the City of Circleville, Ohio, charged with being in Possession of Intoxicating Liquors in violation of law and to such charge pleaded guilty and was fined $200 and costs, and was committed by the said mayor to the county jail in default of the payment of the fine and costs. $11.10 was taxed in the costs as fees going to the mayor for his services in said case.

Now, the said defendant, Harvey Fletcher, prays that a Writ of Habeas Corpus be issued from this Court to the Sheriff of Pickaway Co., that he may be discharged because of being illegally restrained of his liberty.

The defendant cited and relies on the case of Ed Tumey vs. State of Ohio lately carried from a Village Mayor's Court in Hamilton County, Ohio, to the Supreme Court of the United States.

The Decision rendered by Justice Taft, Chief Justice of the United States.

The first syllabus in that case is as follows:

"A law subjecting the liberty and property of an accused to the judgment of a Court, the Judge of which has a direct, personal, substantial pecuniary interest in reaching a conclusion against the accused is in conflict with the due process clause of the Federal Constitution."

The third syllabus in the case reads as follows:

"A system by which an inferior judge is paid for his services only when he convicts the defendant has not become so embodied by custom in the general practice, either at Common Law or in this country, that it can be regarded as due process of law, unless the costs usually imposed are so small that they may be properly ignored as within the maxim, 'Law DOES NOT REGARD MERE TRIFLES.'"

And that same Court further say:

down, the provisions of our Constitution and in the light of the able opinion of Chief Justice Taft of the United States Supreme Court herein referred to, we are of the opinion that the judgment of the instant case is null and void in law and in violation of the CONSTITUTIONAL RIGHT of the plaintiff in error."

The case at bar involves the same Statute construed in the decisions above cited.

The Court in the case must hold that the mayor before whom this case was brought had no jurisdiction to hear the charge and that the defendant, Harvey Fletcher, is being illegally held in jail, and that a Writ of Habeas Corpus issued for his release.

Joseph W. Adkins, Probate Judge.

Ruler of the Winds
Aeolus was the ancient ruler of the Aeolian Isles off the coast of Greece. According to tradition he was given dominion of the winds, which he either kept confined in a cave or sent forth to do his bidding. The aeolian harp is named after him, as the sweet sounds are produced by the wind playing across its strings.

Fresh and Cured Meats

"The prospect of receipt or loss of as much as $12 in each case by a village mayor is not a minute, remote, trifling or insignificant interest, and Statutes which put in his power to earn that amount in addition to his salary in case of conviction, and at the same time to further the interest of the village of which he is the chief executive by levying heavy fines, part of which may be used in public improvements and reduction of taxes in the village, necessarily involve lack of due process of law in the trial of defendants charged with crime before him."

And further the Court say: "Ohio Statutes giving a village mayor county-wide jurisdiction in liquor cases, with compensation for services dependent upon convictions, are UNCONSTITUTIONAL."

The Statutes under which the mayor of Circleville imposed the fine are the same Statutes under which the Village Court imposed the fine in the case of Edward Tumey vs. State of Ohio, above referred to.

The decision above referred to was decided March 7th, 1927, and is the Highest Legal Authority in the United States.

Since that decision was rendered by the United States Supreme Court, the OHIO COURT OF APPEALS, FIFTH DISTRICT, PERRY COUNTY, OHIO, has had the same question before it, in the case, Williams vs. The State.

That Court after discussing the law of the case at length made the following comment: "We are inclined to believe that further comment is not required, except to say: That under our Ohio Statutes, relating to Justices of the Peace and Mayors, the rules of law herein laid

Seals and Signets

The custom of using seals on documents has prevailed for centuries in the East. The earliest examples of seals are found among the antiquities of Egypt, Babylonia and Assyria. The use of the signet was required by Roman law for legal purposes. The custom died out by the Seventh century,
A. D., but was revived in the Middle ages.

CALUX CUP SPRAY KILLS CODDLING MOTH

Altho Do Not Appear For
Five Weeks, Now is the
Time to Spray.

This is the first coddling moth spray
of the season, the coddling moth eggs
do not commence to hatch from three
to five weeks after the fall of the
bloom, this period of time depending
upon the weather.

The purpose of the calyx-cup spray
is to fill the calyx with poison. This
will serve to trap and kill the worms
which seek to enter the calyx thru-
out the remainder of the season. If
the spray is made thoroly it will continue to kill coddling moth worms until September. The presence of apples which show calyx injury during
the summer and fall indicate that the
spray was not applied or was not
thoro.

This spray also kills newly hatched
canker worms, which at this time are
beginning to feed upon the tender
foliage. Canker worms are the slender "measuring worms" which
suspend themselves by threads of
web when the trees are disturbed or
sprayed. It is the most effective
spray against those worms and usually controls them.

The materials to use are:
Lime-sulphur (liquid) 1 gallon;
arsenate of lead, 1 1/4 pounds; water,
50 gallons; or dry lime-sulphur, 3
pounds; arsenate of lead 1 1/4 pounds,
water 50 gallons.

If aphids are numerous one-half
pint of nicotine sulphate should be added. Aphids are more numerous in
Ohio orchards than last spring.
Spraying at this time is only a partial control, owing to the difficulty of
striking them with the spray.

Apply using good pressure and wet
all blossom clusters. Repeat in three weeks on varieties that do not blotch.
For varieties affected with blotch,
follow the disease spray service as
directed for these varieties.

THE "WHAT NOT" BANQUET GIVEN BY BROTHERHOOD

Of Lutheran Church Thurs-
day Evening Proves to
be a Big Success.

Another stunt conceived, tried out
and proven by the Lutheran Brotherhood. About 100 men carrying baskets, pans, pots, dishes and sacks
trudged into the society room with
every kind of food it would be possible to mention—young onions to
chicken, bread and butter to angel
food cake, anything, everything,
scrambled. A hodge-podge of edibles
such as the writer had never before
seen gathered together at one place.

They also brought with them the
things that are even better—a
twinkle in their eye, a kindness in
their comradeship and a manifestation of their brotherly love. In the vernacular of the circus "the biggest
stunt ever put across."

Mr. Frank Palm with a dozen assistants arranged the tables and
served the food. The program consisted in the following responses to
the toastmaster's call:

"Gleeful Prognostications on the new Society Room" E. C. Ebert
"What's Your Hurry?"
"Is Education Losing Its Ideal-
ism?" Prof. W. W. Gulden
"Hash" George Griffith
Carl Seitz and his four harmon-
izers furnished the music. E. Sen-
senbrenner acted as toastmaster.

Next meeting on May 5, will be a
"Bon Voyage" to Rev. Troutman,
who with his son, George, is leaving
on a three months' vacation to the Holy Land.

Fish's Many Names

A sea trout has various names in different parts of the world. In Devon
and Cornwall it is always a peal; in Ireland it is a white trout. In Scotland, flinnock, herling, and whittling
are names given to the young sea
trout, and another common name for
this fish is salmon trout.

Suffrage and other modern-day
equalities may have cost woman some
of her privileges, but she still clings
to the marriage rite.
